

NOGI DRAWING
FORCES CLOSER

Will Cut Off Port Arthur Completely and Then Send Assistance to Oyama.

By Paul Lambeth.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.) LONDON, December 26.—While very little change in the war situation in the far East is shown by to-day's dispatches, it is evident that the Japanese grip on Port Arthur is steadily tightening, and that the aim of General Nogi is to hasten the work of reducing the outer defenses to that a much smaller force will be sufficient to cut the garrison off effectively from all communication on the land side, while the torpedo boats maintain an impenetrable blockade of the harbor. This will enable Nogi to release the greater part of his army force, and the assistance of Marshal Oyama, who seems to have stepped down for the winter, confident that the Russians cannot add any considerable number of men to the present strength of their army, and that he will be able in the early spring to take the field with an overwhelming force, and other to annihilate or compel the retirement from Manchuria of the Russian army.

Japanese advices indicate that the Mikado's government is in no mood to listen to talk of a compromise at this stage of the campaign. The Japanese are confident of achieving a complete victory before many months, and do not wish to impel the doubly bought reward of their brave struggle by encouraging the interference of European nations in the Manchurian dispute. Port Arthur was lost to the nation as a result of European intervention, after it had been won from China and the Japanese do not intend to risk a repetition of that experience as a culmination to the present struggle.

From St. Petersburg come reports that the military authorities there believe that the Japanese being able to put another army in the field as strong as the present. They claim that Japanese military strength has already been exhausted by the demands of the campaign, and that from now on they may be expected to meet with serious reverses on both land and sea. The assertion is made that in a very short time Kuroki will have an army of five hundred thousand men at his command, and that he will sweep the Japanese back into Korea or into the sea.

Military experts here say the Russians have made these same boasts since the beginning of the campaign, but have nothing to show for them and that there is very little prospect of their being made good at the present time.

MISSIONS FEEDING
THE CITY'S POOR

Hundreds Will Be Given Christmas Dinner to-morrow.

Barrels of Toys.

Christmas Day was celebrated at the Baptist Central Neighborhood House by a special musical service. Rev. Mr. Buchanan talked to an interesting audience of one hundred and fifty that filled the chapel to overflowing and Mrs. Buchanan delighted everyone with her splendid voice.

On the night before, Mrs. Buchanan distributed four barrels of toys to the fifty children who are under the special care of the Neighborhood House. One barrel of these toys and twelve dolls were contributed by Mrs. Bagby's Sunday school scholars. On the same night thirty-five baskets, each containing five fine Christmas dinners, were sent out to deserving poor families, while a supply of candles, cakes and fruits was served to the men who spent the night at the mission.

At 2 o'clock to-morrow the big Christmas dinner will be given. Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan hope that large contributions will come in all day long to-day so that every corner may be fed.

At the Nineteenth Street Mission sixty-three hungry men were given breakfast Christmas morning. It was a splendid breakfast of turkey, ham, coffee and fruit, with a cigar as a happy ending. This last special feature was the gift of a New York man who is greatly interested in Mr. Wiley's work and enthusiastic service.

On Sunday morning a religious service was held in the mission chapel by Captain and Mrs. Fleming. During the evening a handsome Christmas present was given these popular Salvation Army workers.

Mr. Wiley who is making marriage a specialty, was again in demand on Sunday, uniting in marriage Mr. J. W. Bagby and Miss Maggie Lee, both of Atlanta, Ga. A large gathering of friends was in attendance who enjoyed a fine Christmas dinner after the ceremony. The knot was tied at the residence of a friend of the bride at Twenty-fourth and Main Streets.

Mr. Wiley's big Christmas dinner takes place to-morrow at 1 o'clock. Last year 600 persons of all creeds and from all parts of the city were fed. One hundred were fed at a time, and this master of the Nineteenth Street Mission says that he hopes to feed ten thousands this year.

A committee of ladies will be on hand to-day from 10 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock in the evening to receive contributions to the dinner. Mr. John P. Branch, president of the Merchants National Bank and a patron of the mission, has promised to be present and make a speech suitable to the occasion.

Christmas at First Lutheran.

The Christmas entertainment of the First Lutheran church will be given at 7:45 and will take place to-morrow evening at 7:45 and will be one of the most interesting programs will be rendered.

NORFOLK WRAPT
IN A LETHAL FOG

Moisture Has a Dampening Effect on Yuletide Cheer.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., December 26.—To-night the city is enveloped in a fog so thick that street lights are almost invisible a square away, and the drolful fog strewn on harbor craft have a correspondingly dampening effect upon the Yuletide cheer. The observance of Christmas in Norfolk was confined principally to church going, and the regular festive dinner. The fog, however, prevented any great amount of outdoor pleasures, and to-day seemed more like a dull Sunday before the good government people closed the saloons than they set apart for the observance of Christmas.

Martha Jackson and her sister, Sarah, had a dispute over a man and Sarah is in the hospital, likely to die of stab wounds while Martha is in jail. There were fifty-seven cases in Police Court this morning, as a result of the Christmas proper and the fog. Of course, dallying around the flowing bowl is responsible for a majority.

Over one thousand poor children were fed on turkey and other things good to eat in Armory Hall to-day by the Hub Clothing Company. Major General McCall and an address and Rev. C. S. Blackwell pronounced the benediction.

DR. WILLIAM BLAND
DIES IN MARYLAND

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BALTIMORE, MD., Dec. 26.—Dr. William Bland, a retired physician and farmer, near Verona, Eighth District, died suddenly last night at his home, after a health for some time from kidney trouble. He was born in King and Queen county, Va., September 17, 1827, a son of Robert Bland and Mary Ann Boyd Bland. He received his academic education at Richmond College and his medical education at Philadelphia, where he received the degree of Doctor of Medicine in 1849. He practiced his profession in his home county until 1887, when he came to Baltimore county. In the Civil War he spent large sums for the South and equipped one regiment. He was home surgeon to the Confederate army, and a friend of General Lee and Senator Daniel. The body will be taken to Virginia for burial.

FOUGHT FIFTEEN
ROUNDS TO DRAW

(By Associated Press.)

GLOUCESTER, MASS., Dec. 26.—Gus Ashley, of Philadelphia, fought another round to a draw before 400 spectators at the Gloucester Athletic Club to-day. In the last round McCloskey broke a tendon above the wrist of his right arm.

FATAL CHRISTMAS ROW.

Richard Young Kills Andrew Page and Wounds Two Brothers.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

GREENDALE, VA., December 26.—Richard Young, colored, shot and instantly killed Andrew Page, also colored, and probably fatally injured two of Page's brothers, at a Christmas tree entertainment, which was held by the colored people at the Levitt Baptist Church, a few hundred yards from this village, this afternoon. The shooting occurred over an umbrella. Edward Page, who was also shot by Young, says that Young shot and he dodged the ball, striking Andrew Page in the ear. He fell, and Young is reported as having shot him three times, twice after he fell.

Young is of a ginger cake color, weighing about 170 pounds, 5 feet, 6 or 8 inches high. He has been working up North and came back to this place several weeks ago. Page was a polite and trustworthy negro.

Englishman Knocked Out.

(By Associated Press.)

SALEM, MASS., Dec. 25.—Jimmy Welsh, of Boston, knocked out Harry Brodigan, of London, in the second round of a boxing match at the Apollo Athletic Club to-day. The men met for a ten round bout, and for a couple of minutes they fought over an umbrella. Then Welsh caught Brodigan on the jaw with a terrific right-hander. The Englishman collapsed and was counted out.

Travelers' Banquet.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ROANOKE, VA., December 26.—The annual banquet of Roanoke Council of Commercial Travelers took place at Hotel Roanoke to-night, and was a brilliant affair. About four hundred were at the tables.
